Methods of Searching

There are two main ways to search for cases on Lawtel.

1. From Lawtel's front page

Enter the case name or subject terms in the search box and tick Case Law. If you want to, you can limit your search by date. Use the From and To boxes. Click on Search.

The screenshot shows the Lawtel website's search interface. At the top, there are navigation links: Lawtel Home, My Folder, RSS Feeds, Help, and Welcome Inner Temple Library. A news banner reads "Youth fund doubled to £22m to aid violent crime prevention". Below the navigation is a menu with categories: HOME, CASES, LEGISLATION, ARTICLES & PRESS, SPECIALIST AREAS, and TRENDS & ANALYSIS. The breadcrumb trail shows "Lawtel > UK > Home".

The main search area is titled "SEARCH LAWTEL". It has two radio buttons: "Free Text" (selected) and "Document Title". The search input field contains "phelps hillingdon". Below the input field is a checkbox for "This exact phrase". There are two columns of checkboxes for search filters: "Search all my content" (unchecked), "Case Law" (checked), "Articles Index" (unchecked), and "Legislation" (unchecked). To the right of these are links for "PI Quantum Reports", "News & Press", "Kemp Commentary", and "JC Guidelines". At the bottom of the search area are "From:" and "To:" date selection boxes, a "SEARCH" button, and a "CLEAR" button.

On the right side of the page, there are sections for "Daily Updates" with links for "Latest Lawtel Update" and "Last 5 Lawtel Updates", "UPDATED PRIVACY STATEMENT" with a link to "Privacy Statement", and "PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT BLOG" with a paragraph of text.

A list of hits will appear.

2. Cases Database

Select CASES from the tabs at the top of the screen. From the drop down menu, click on Advanced Search.

The screenshot shows the top navigation bar with tabs: HOME, CASES, LEGISLATION, ARTICLES & PRESS, SPECIALIST AREAS, and TRENDS & ANALYSIS. The CASES tab is selected, showing a dropdown menu with options: Case Comments, Cause Lists, Practice Directions, PI Quantum Reports, Transcripts Express, Pending Actions, Permissions To Appeal, and Advanced Search. The Advanced Search option is highlighted. Below the navigation is a search area with the heading 'SEARCH LAWTEL'. 2. Searching for a case that cites a particular piece of legislation

Select the Legislation tab from the top of the screen. From the drop down menu click on Browsable Legislation. Find the Act you are interested in. By clicking on the + symbol next to the title you will then get the option of viewing cases citing the whole Act or cases citing the sections.

The screenshot shows the "BROWSE UK LEGISLATION" page. It includes a description: "View the browsable list of legislation alphabetically or chronologically. Click on the name of an Act to expand the tree for a list of cases on Lawtel citing sections of that Act and also for a list of cases citing the Act itself. All of the cases cited link to the Lawtel case reports. You can also view the Lawtel summary of the Act from here, linking to the original full text and the Statutory Status Table, if available." Below this is a link for "Alphabetical Chronological".

MAX MOSLEY v NEWS GROUP NEWSPAPERS LTD (2008)

[2008] EWHC 1777 (QB)
QBD (Eady J) 24/7/2008
HUMAN RIGHTS - DAMAGES

BREACH OF CONFIDENCE : EXEMPLARY DAMAGES : FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION : PUBLIC INTEREST : PUBLICATION : RIGHT TO RESPECT FOR PRIVATE AND FAMILY LIFE : SEXUAL ACTIVITY BETWEEN CONSENTING ADULTS ON PRIVATE PROPERTY : JUSTIFICATION FOR INTRUSION ON PERSONAL PRIVACY : APPROPRIATE BASIS OF DAMAGES : art.10 EUROPEAN CONVENTION ON HUMAN RIGHTS : art.8 EUROPEAN CONVENTION ON HUMAN RIGHTS

There was a reasonable expectation of privacy in relation to sexual activities, albeit unconventional, carried on between consenting adults on private property. The exposure by a national newspaper of sado-masochistic and some sexual activities and role play between the claimant and other consenting adult participants could not be justified on grounds of public interest and had been in breach of confidence and the claimant's rights under the European Convention on Human Rights 1950 art.8.

The claimant (M) sought damages from the defendant newspaper publisher (N) for breach of confidence and the unauthorised disclosure of personal information which infringed his rights of privacy as protected by the European Convention on Human Rights 1950 art.8. M was the President of the FIA. One of N's newspapers had published an article under the heading "F1 BOSS HAS SICK NAZI ORGY WITH 5 HOOKERS", accompanied by a number of captioned images, which concerned an event attended by M and five women involving sado-masochistic and some sexual activities and role play. The same information and images were published on N's website, which contained video footage relating to the same event. The articles alleged that the sessions had a Nazi theme and mocked the way that Holocaust victims had been treated in concentration camps. A "follow up" article was published a week later, headed "EXCLUSIVE: MOSLEY HOOKER TELLS ALL: MY NAZI ORGY WITH F1 BOSS", which consisted of a purported interview with one of the women (E) who had been present at the event in question and had filmed what took place clandestinely with a hidden camera supplied by N. M contended that the content of the published material was inherently private in nature and that there had also been a pre-existing relationship of confidentiality between the participants as they had all known each other for some time and had taken part in their activities on the understanding that they would be private and that none of them would reveal what had taken place. M alleged that E had breached that trust. N contended that M had no reasonable expectation of privacy in relation to the information or images concerning the event, or alternatively that M's right to privacy under art.8 of the Convention was outweighed by a greater public interest in the disclosure, such that its right to freedom of expression under art.10 of the Convention should, in the circumstances, be allowed to prevail. N submitted that, because of M's role as president of the FIA, the public had a right to know about the nature of the sexual activities that he indulged in. M denied that the event had had any Nazi theme or anything to do with concentration camps.
