Database Tabs

Along the top of the screen you will see various tabs e.g. Cases, Legislation, Commentary and Journals. By clicking on any of these you will be taken to that specific database in Lexis Library. There is also a Sources tab which can be used to find a specific source within Lexis Library.

This guide deals with legislation. There are other guides for searching cases on Lexis Library and Commonwealth material.

Find a Title...

Use this option if you have a reference for a specific UK case, Act, SI or journal article, or form or precedent.
Within this there is also a Find a source option.

From here you can enter the name of the source you are looking for.

Glossary

From here you can enter a legal term and obtain information about its definition. The results will include: the definition of the term; definitions found within legislation; links to key cases that have helped to define the term; links to Halsbury’s Laws; references to Atkin’s Court Forms and the Encyclopaedia of Forms and Precedents.

Bookshelf

The Bookshelf lists some of the most frequently used sources on Lexis Library. You can click on browse or search to go directly to that source. Click on View more to see the full list.

Searching across the whole database

There is a search box underneath the database tabs. This will search across the whole of Lexis Library.

Acts - Methods of Searching

1. Home Page

On the home page in Find a Title... you can search for legislation by entering the title and year in the Legislation box. You can specify if you want an Act or SI.
2. Legislation Database

Click on the Legislation tab at the top of the screen to get into the Legislation database. Here you can search for legislation in various ways. You can enter the title of the Act in the Title box and the year in the Year enacted box. If you are looking for a specific section of an Act, you can enter this in the Provision box. If you only have a citation, you can enter the year in the Year box and the chapter number in the Series number box. If you want to search by subject you can enter the search terms in the Search terms box or you can select terms by using the Add topics to search option.

The default is set to All Subscribed Legislation Sources. You can also select a source to search from the drop down list.
Search Results for Acts

If you search for the whole Act, you will retrieve a list of hits that relate to each section of the Act.

The first hit is the enactment section. From here there are a number of options in the Find out more box on the right of the screen.

- Status Snapshot - this will display the current status of each section of the Act with information on commencement and amendments. Destination Tables for Acts from 1960 to 1998 will also appear here.

- Commentary - this will link through to sections in commentary sources that cover the same issues as the Act.

- Cases - this will link through to cases that discuss any sections of the Act.

- Journals - this will link to articles that discuss the Act as a whole.

- Subordinate Legislation - this will link to SIs made under any section of the Act.

- Halsbury's Statutes Citator - this gives details about what has happened to the Act since it was passed.

- Is it in force? - this lists each section of the Act and gives commencement information.
Within the Find out more box there is a Halsbury’s Annotations option. The Annotations are taken from the notes in Halsbury’s Statutes and cover material such as: Parliamentary debates and explanatory notes; cases related to the legislation; subordinate legislation; words specifically defined by the legislation. Halsbury’s Annotations are also indicated by a yellow speech bubble by the text of the Act.
Search Results for Sections of Acts

If you search for a specific section of an Act a Find out more box will be displayed with similar options to those described in Search Results for Acts but they relate to the specific section you are looking at.

There are a few differences at section level:

- Notes - after the section there will be a NOTES field that provides information on commencement, amendment, derivations and destinations.

- Status Snapshot - this is in the Find out more box. This displays the current status of the section with information on commencement and amendments. Destination and derivation information for the section will appear here for Acts from 1998 onwards.

An Annotations box will appear within the Find out more box and also as a yellow speech bubble by the text of the section. This contains notes taken from Halsbury’s Statutes and these relate to the section you are viewing. The Annotations may also contain links to cases that interpret the section and to subordinate legislation made under the section.
Statutory Instruments - Methods of Searching

1. Home Page

On the home page via Find a Title... you can search for an SI by entering the title and year in the Legislation box and selecting the SI option.

2. Legislation Database
